HOCHTIEF acquires business operations from Honeywell Building Solutions

55 employees transferring from the market segments of laboratories and cleanrooms, financial service providers and airport operators

HOCHTIEF Facility Management has now acquired two business operations in Germany from Honeywell Building Solutions. One operation provides refrigeration maintenance services and the other provides facility management for laboratories and cleanrooms, financial service providers, retail, public sector and airport operators. 55 specialized staff transfer to HOCHTIEF Facility Management. No details of the purchase price were disclosed.

HOCHTIEF Facility Management has already been involved in the laboratory and cleanroom segment, for example in hospitals and in chip production. However, high customer demand is face to face with a persistent shortage of specialized staff. There is a great need for experts such as the Honeywell Building Solutions' employees. With their help, HOCHTIEF Facility Management will be expanding its activities in this segment.
